

CREATING NOVEL SOLUTIONS IN COMPLEX SYSTEMS: LEADING AS A DEVIATION AMPLIFIER

“INNOVATIVE INDIVIDUALS CAN BE AN ANNOYING SOURCE OF DISRUPTION IN THE WORKPLACE—ALWAYS ASKING “WHY”.

SOME INDIVIDUALS HAVE THE AUDACITY TO MAKE CHANGES BELIEVED TO IMPROVE OUTCOMES WITH OR WITHOUT SUPPORT.

THIS LACK OF REGARD FOR THE STATUS QUO MAY BE ESSENTIAL FOR ORGANIZATIONAL SURVIVAL.”

Unterschuetz, hughes, nienhauser, weberg, jackson, 2008

RULE #1

YOU DON'T NEED TO BE AN INNOVATOR TO LEAD INNOVATION

A glowing lightbulb is positioned on the right side of the image, resting on a wooden surface. The lightbulb is illuminated, casting a warm glow. The wooden surface has a prominent grain pattern and is lit from the right, creating a gradient of light across the scene.

OUR HEALTH SYSTEMS ARE STRADDLING TWO ERAS

	Old Approach	New Approach
Care	Episodic visits	Continuous relationship
Management	Clinician	Clinical team
Decision-making	Training and experience	Evidence
Control	Care system	Patient
Variability	Clinician autonomy	Patient needs, preferences
Information flow	Restricted	Encouraged
Process visibility	Secrecy	Transparency
Safety	Responsibility of clinician	Responsibility of system
Needs	System reacts	System anticipates
Financial goal	Reduce cost	Reduce waste

RICK AND DICK HOYT

Rick and Dick Hoyt are an American father-son duo who have competed in numerous marathons and triathlons together. Rick, the father, was born in 1950 and is a retired teacher. He has been pushing his son, Dick, who was born with cerebral palsy, in a wheelchair since 1977.

Together, they have completed over 1,000 races, including 31 Boston Marathons. They are an inspiration to many and have been featured in several documentaries.

THE INNOVATION ESSENTIALS: TEAMWORK + LEADERSHIP

Build Connections

Embrace the human side
Never “too busy”
Micro-interactions are reinforcing of goals

Cultivate Relationships

Foster trust through transparency
Takes ownership of outcomes

Live on the Edge of Chaos

Crisis is the exception not the norm
Look for patterns
Embrace the messy

Dismantle Stagnation

Information is shared
Clear strategic plans and goals
Clear priorities and expectations

CURRENT CHANGE FRAMEWORK FOR HEALTHCARE

THRIVING SYSTEMS + WHAT WON'T WORK

- Autonomy

Removal of decision making
Increase in needed approvals

- Reproduce

No succession plan
Mentoring non existent

- Repair

No recovery from stress and conflict

- Survival Instinct

Individual self-preservation vs team support

- Adaptation

Change behaviors are discouraged and limited

- Evolution

Decreased connections with other teams removes the ability for teams to learn

CARING FOR THE INNOVATOR

Openness and autonomy

Recognize the innovation

Value the innovation rather than the disruption

Patience and honesty

Recognize barriers to innovation

Transparently share success and issues

Do not let things fester

Supportive and respectful

Balance innovation and equilibrium

Encourage boldness in formal settings

Patience: Value Misteps

Provide healing for the innovator

Celebrate what did not work

Rally to retry

Sensitivity

Anticipating outcomes

Develop innovation plans, frequent systems assessment, and flex

INNOVATION CREATES UNCERTAINTY

And human nature does not like that

THE BURDEN OF THE INDIVIDUAL INNOVATOR

No One knows what you are doing
Your actions shape the perception of the emerging role

You Must Share What you Learn
Leading the pack but pulling them along with you

Resistance is normal, enjoy it
Resistance means your changing the norms

REASONS ORGANIZATIONS REJECT CHANGE

A close-up photograph of a smartphone lying on a light-colored surface. The screen displays the Amazon logo, which is partially visible on the right side. The phone is angled towards the top right.

IT'S NOT
BUSINESS

A collage-style advertisement for Kodak film. It features a yellow background with a red diagonal stripe. Text includes 'Kodak', 'KODAK PRINT', 'KODAK CHROME FILM', 'WE ARE NOT CANNIBALS', 'HAVE OUR IS HERE', and 'KODAK'. There are also several small black and white photographs of people and objects.

WE ARE NOT CANNIBALS

A street-level photograph of a city street with several yellow taxis. The street is wet, suggesting it has recently rained. In the background, there are tall, multi-story buildings with classical architectural features like arched windows and stone facades.

IT AIN'T
BROKE

A photograph of an anatomical model of a human torso, showing the ribcage, spine, and internal organs. The model is positioned in the foreground, with a blurred background that appears to be an indoor setting.

TOP CAUSES FOR INNOVATION UNCERTAINTY

Start ups and innovative organizations build process around these to remove uncertainty

Celebrating unimportant projects

- Takes focus and recognition from priorities and hard problem solving

No limits on the number of projects

- The more you have, the less energy and focus will occur

Reluctance to kill and idea

- Waste of time and resources. The goal is to fail early and fail gloriously

Weak Selection Criteria

- Vetting projects impact and mission alignment is key

Weak Decision Criteria

- Qualitative and Quantitative metrics with defined timelines to decide go or no-go

Treating innovation as a “side gig”

- Teams feel left out, expendable, and defeated.
- Pilotitis

DON'T WORRY ABOUT THE LAGGARDS

Source: Everett Rogers, Diffusion of Innovations model

INNOVATION KILLERS-TOXIC LEADERS AND TEAMS

- 12% of victims quit
- 63% lost time avoiding toxic person
- 48% decreased their work effort
- 78% reported decreased organizational commitment

INNOVATION KILLERS- TOXIC LEADER BEHAVIORS

- An informal/impulsive style that is disruptive and dysfunctional.
- Avoiding Conflict
- Personal Agendas
- Poor management of people networks, especially superiors and peers.
- Creation of disruptive “in group/out group” rivalries.
- Alternation between idealizing and devaluing others particularly direct reports.
- Failure to manage details and effectively act as an administrator

3 THINGS YOU CAN DO TOMORROW

- ✓ Making the hidden visible reduces rumors
- ✓ Workarounds can be a source of innovation
- ✓ Problem solving with those closest to the problem
