PRESENTATION AND DISCUSSION

As health care organizations look to embrace new care models, many will seek to incorporate virtual nursing as part of care delivery. We will hear from leaders at two health systems that are leading the way in testing new care models by integrating virtual nursing care. Our speakers will share their approach, examples of how care is delivered, and key metrics. This interactive virtual program will include dedicated time in the agenda for questions and discussion. Nurse leaders and nursing colleagues in academia are invited to participate to learn what is happening with the evolution of virtual nursing care in New England and around the country.
